Passion for ELTHAM College

I am passionate about seeing young people have opportunities and the self-confidence to take advantage of them. ELTHAM College provides a wonderful environment for learning and for nurturing self-respect and respect for others. I have many years of experience in business and see that education and training are so essential to the welfare of the individual and the community.

I have been a parent at ELTHAM College since 1983 with four daughters who have thrived at ELTHAM.
