Passion for ELTHAM College

The school's strong focus on developing the whole person; growing hearts and minds, is something I am very passionate about as we look to provide experiences to best prepare our young people for life in the twenty first century.

Professional Background

I have gained significant skills and experience across the corporate and elite sporting sectors in leadership, strategic marketing, sales and relationship management, banking and financial management, corporate consulting, operational improvement, people development, and coaching.

I currently lead the strategic marketing function for Enterprise and Government at Australia Post and work in talent development with the AFL assisting to prepare the next generation of AFL Umpires.
